Will Report Soon—The report of Engineer Charles T. Adams, relative to the best method of increasing the city's water supply, will be here in a short time, so says Mr. Adams in a recent communication to this city. The report of Mr. Adams has been expected for some time.

Assessments Filed—The assessments of the improvement of Bond street, between the west line of McClure's and Ninth streets, and from Sixth to Ninth streets, were filed yesterday in the office of City Auditor Anderson, and will be submitted to the council at the next regular meetings. The amounts of the assessments were $6,133.50 and $4,427.30 respectively.

New Concern, Old Members—Articles of incorporation of the Ford & Stokes Hardware company were filed at the office of the county clerk yesterday, wherein the capital stock of the new concern is fixed at $50,000, divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100 each. The headquarters office will be in this city and the incorporators of record are Martin Ford, Frank R. Stokes, V. Boelling, F. A. Leahy, C. Le Blanc and J. G. Hayberg. The tenure of the incorporation is perpetual.

Buried Tomorrow—At 6 o'clock yesterday morning Oscar Morton died at the Tenth street home of his parents from the bursting of a blood vessel in his brain, one of the results of his attempt upon his own life. Under the circumstances of the peculiarly unhappy case, it became necessary for the summoning of a coroner's jury, and this was done by Coroner W. C. A. Pohl yesterday afternoon, the jury bringing a verdict in accord with the sad facts published to date. The funeral of the young man will take place from the family home on tomorrow, Thursday, Rev. W. Seymour Short, rector of Grace Episcopal church, officiating; and interment will follow in Greenwood cemetery.

NARROW ESCAPE IN A RUNAWAY

FAMILY CARRIAGE OF MRS. C. S. BROWN WRECKED BY SPIRITED HORSE ON BOND STREET—MRS. CHAS. RICHARDSON INVOLVED.

What proved, most happily, not a fatal accident, occurred yesterday morning on West Bond street, when the carriage in which Mesdames C. S. Brown and Charles Richardson and the latter's baby were taking a morning spin, was demolished and the party thrown out on the highway.

It seems the party was going west on Bond street and met one of the electric cars of the A. E. Company coming in, when their horse, a fine, spirited animal, began to rear and show extraordinary symptoms of fright, and to appease which the motorman on the car, almost a block away, slowed down and finally stopped his car quite a distance from the nervous animal. To get out of the trouble as quickly as possible, Mrs. Brown, who was driving, sought to turn the rig about, and in doing so the horse seemed to reach an access of fright and swung the whole thing about so quickly and shortly as to throw both ladies and the babe to the ground.

Everybody in the neighborhood who saw the accident hastened to the spot and rendered all the assistance possible, and though none were gravely injured, both ladies sustained cuts and bruises of a severe sort about their faces, hands and shoulders, the little one escaping unharmed in the premises.

The hospitable doors of the J. T. Ross home were thrown open to the distressed ladies and they were assisted there and were soon under the skillful treatment of physicians summoned on the instant.

The horse tried to continue his flight back to the city, but got tangled up in an adjacent fence and after smashing the buggy up considerably, and cutting himself enough for punishment, quieted down and was led to his quarters.

Mrs. Brown seems to have suffered the most from the ordeal and was unconscious for some time and was found to have a serious cut over her right eye and her back badly sprained, while Mrs. Richardson carries several cuts on her head and was severely shaken up in the disaster, but neither lady is beyond the stage of complete and it is hoped, early recovery.

For the Farmers' Use—A new feature of public service is about to be introduced for the especial use of the farmers of this and adjoining counties, by the United States Weather Bureau, acting in conjunction with the Pacific States Telephone & Telegraph company, whereby any farmer on the rural telephone lines who is a subscriber to the latter service, may be informed by simply asking for the particular news, of the weather forecast for the day. The forecast for the day upon which the inquiry is made will be sent him covering the period from 5 o'clock p. m. on the day on which it is issued to 5 o'clock p. m. on the day following. It is likely to be employed by all who are in touch with the service and will be of distinct value to all concerned. The service begins immediately and will be entirely free to all subscribers, and will undoubtedly become a popular source of specific and opportune information.

In Far Vermont—Word has been received from Richmond, Vermont, announcing the safe arrival in their old home of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Ingalls of this city and county. Mr. Ingalls is not as well as a man ought to be who is so far away from his base of operations, but the "old folks" are doing their best back there to eliminate his ills and make him feel good. They will leave for Boston and other points as soon as they have "visited" some.

Now is the Time—Dr. Klugmann, expert chiropodist, late from Berlin, Germany, treats corns, bunions, ingrowing toe nails, callouses and warts with out pain, sure cure. Offices 471 Bond street. 9-26-11

Had a Good Time—Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Lavoie, of Elgin, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Street, of Santa Cruz, Cal., who are sojourning for a season in the City-by-the-Sea, have just returned from a delightful outing at the Harder ranch, where all the joys of trout-fishing were indulged in to the infinite satisfaction of the entire party. Messrs. Lavoie and Street proved their accurate knowledge of the gentle art, by the size of the strings they brought in.
